Regional Parks
Brand Book
Table of Contents
1. Understanding Our Brand
   • Scope
   • Positioning

2. Redefining Our Brand
   • Our Role
   • Circle of Engagement
   • Values
   • Personality
   • Brand Essence

3. Brand Story
   • Overview
   • Manifesto
   • Brand Foundation

4. Content Typologies
   • Overview
   • Typologies

5. Tone of Voice
   • Considerations
   • Corporate
   • Events
   • Guides and Rules
   • Photography

6. Pacific Parklands Foundation
   • Overview
   • Using the Brand

7. Graphic Standards
   • Overview
   • Logo
   • Do's and Don’ts
   • Typography
   • Colour
   • Templates

8. Support
   • Contact Us
1
Understanding Our Brand
Metro Vancouver
Regional Parks’ Scope

Metro Vancouver Regional Parks are a diverse collection of ecosystems throughout our communities that include forests, rivers, beaches, bogs and wetlands.

11,000,000+ Visitors a Year
14,500 Hectares
23 Regional Parks
5 Regional Greenways
3 Regional Park Reserves
2 Ecological Conservancy Areas
Positioning

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Size</th>
<th>Municipal Parks</th>
<th>Regional Parks</th>
<th>National Parks</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>For</td>
<td>Residents of the local community</td>
<td>Metro Vancouver residents and visitors</td>
<td>National and international visitors</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Purpose</td>
<td>Active recreation, leisure activities</td>
<td>Protect nature and connect people to nature</td>
<td>Protect and promote our national heritage</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Time</td>
<td>A few hours</td>
<td>A full afternoon / day</td>
<td>A few days (overnight)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Municipal Parks vs. Regional Parks

Unlike municipal parks which are usually smaller and used by residents for active sport and recreation use, regional parks are generally larger and attract visitors from across Metro Vancouver desiring to connect to nature. Regional parks serve a purpose to protect natural areas.

Provincial / National Parks vs. Regional Parks

Provincial and national parks are much larger than regional parks and preserve massive areas that contain provincially or nationally important natural and cultural features. They provide access to wilderness untouched by humans.

Visitors spend at least a full day in them, if not many days.
Redefining Our Brand
Our Role

Protecting Metro Vancouver’s natural areas and connecting people with them.

Our extensive and diverse network of ecosystems should be enjoyed, valued and protected as a key asset for the residents of Metro Vancouver.

Experiencing nature improves our quality of life, preserving ecologies mitigates climate change and uniting people with nature fosters stewardship for the environment.
Circle of Engagement

Protection
Preservation and stewardship of ecosystems.
Includes land acquisition and conservation.

Connection
People to nature and people to each other.
Providing access to regional parks through infrastructure and programming creates community.

Education
Possible once nature is protected and people are connected to it.
Services to inspire appreciation and understanding of the environment.

Adoption
Once people are connected and educated, they can take on stewardship roles.
Pacific Parklands Foundation is the fundraising arm of Metro Vancouver Regional Parks.
Values

The Necessity of Nature

We understand the critical role the natural world plays in the survival of the planet and our role in protecting and enhancing it.

Because we value the necessity of nature, we are:

Passionate
We love nature and what we do for it.

Authentic
We'll always stay true to who we are.

Responsible
We have a mandate to protect nature and we will make sure this goal is achieved.

Wellness

We continue to witness the positive impact our service has on the mind, body and spirit of the members of our community.

Because we value wellness, we are:

Outdoorsy
We enjoy spending time in the parks and want others to as well.

Optimistic
Spending time in the parks makes us feel great and confident about our future.

Balanced
We balance our life between the natural and the city worlds.
Values (Continued)

The Sharing of Expertise

We believe environmental sciences have the power to not only find solutions to new challenges, but also amaze, inspire and educate in the process.

Because we value the sharing of expertise, we are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Knowledgeable</th>
<th>Approachable</th>
<th>Open</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>We know how nature works and how to best take care of it.</td>
<td>We strive to make our knowledge accessible and we love to share it.</td>
<td>We are always curious and excited to learn from others.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Stewardship

Through our relationships with our regional parks’ partners, we strive to educate and empower people to help them become ambassadors of nature.

Because we value stewardship, we are:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Caring</th>
<th>Engaging</th>
<th>Collaborative</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>We love nature but we love people too and want them to feel welcome in our parks.</td>
<td>It is our mandate to make the natural world interesting to people.</td>
<td>We need to involve regional parks’ partners in order to achieve our mandate. We can’t do it by ourselves.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Values (Continued)

Metro Vancouver Regional Parks’ Set of Values

The Necessity of Nature

Wellness

The Sharing of Expertise

Stewardship
Brand Story
Our brand story is our method for communicating our essence to our audiences.

Both an internal and external tool, it helps people understand not just “what” we do, but “why” we do it.
Protect and Connect
At Metro Vancouver Regional Parks, we have the unique responsibility to protect thousands of hectares of diverse ecosystems, and where appropriate, provide access to them for millions of visitors a year.

This puts us at the service of both nature and people. However, serving both is not mutually exclusive. By protecting nature, we can connect people to it. And by connecting people to nature, we can inspire its protection.

Within our regional parks, we guide our visitors through nature with minimal impact to it. Along the way, we educate and inspire, encouraging people to join us in stewardship.

Over ten million visitors every year venture into our regional parks, greenways, reserves, and ecological conservancy areas.

From forests and rivers to beaches and wetlands, 14,500 hectares of nature has been preserved for all of us to enjoy and protect.
Brand Foundation

Our Role

Protecting Metro Vancouver’s natural areas and connecting people with them.

Our extensive and diverse network of ecosystems should be enjoyed, valued and protected as a key asset for the residents of Metro Vancouver.

- Experiencing nature improves our quality of life, preserving ecologies mitigates climate change and uniting people with nature fosters stewardship for the environment.

Values and Personality

The Necessity of Nature

We Value...

We understand the critical role the natural world plays in the survival of the planet and our role in protecting and enhancing it.

Because...

- Passionate
- Authentic
- Responsible

Wellness

We Value...

We continue to witness the positive impact our service has on the mind, body and spirit of the members of our community.

Because...

- Outdoorsy
- Optimistic
- Balanced

The Sharing of Expertise

We Value...

We believe environmental sciences have the power to not only find solutions to new challenges, but amaze, inspire and educate in the process.

Because...

- Knowledgeable
- Approachable
- Open

Stewardship

We Value...

Through our relationships with our regional parks’ partners, we strive to educate and empower people to help them become ambassadors of nature.

Because...

- Caring
- Engaging
- Collaborative

Brand Essence

Protect and Connect
4

Content Typologies
Our brand will behave in slightly different ways depending on the content typology.

(e.g. event poster vs. educational brochure)
Overview

Corporate and Awareness

When the brand needs to go out to the world as an organization, making bold statements or simply reminding the world what it does. This is when it fully embraces the Protect and Connect brand essence.

Examples
Brand awareness campaign, website, social media, press releases, reports, regional parks plan

Events and Programs

When the brand will try to convince people to come and join it, often for an event or activity. This content should be exciting and inviting.

Examples
Interpretive event and program posters and flyers, field trip brochures, invitations, awards, certificates, Check it Out! program guide, interpretive signage

Guides and Rules

When the brand needs to go deeper into explanations of what it does and why. It can be used when it wants to deliver precise information about a specific topic.

Examples
Parks information, safety rules and regulations
Typologies of Content

Corporate & Awareness
- Awareness campaigns
- Website
- Social media
- Press releases, event announcements
- Reports, plans

Events & Programs
- Individual and group programs: ads, brochures for field trips and tours for schools, scouts, guides and adult groups
- Interpretive signage
- Event posters, flyers, etc.
- Check it Out! program guide
- Co-branded events
- Invitations, awards, certificates

Guides & Rules
- System wide and individual park brochures
- Historic guides
- In-park signage (navigation, rules and safety)
- Park kiosks

Interact with audience
- Knowledgeable
- Approachable
- Open
- Outdoorsy
- Optimistic
- Balanced
- Passionate
- Authentic
- Responsible
- Caring
- Engaging
- Collaborative

Raise awareness among audience
- Knowledgeable
- Approachable
- Open
- Outdoorsy
- Optimistic
- Balanced
- Passionate
- Authentic
- Responsible
- Caring
- Engaging
- Collaborative

Convince audience
- Outdoorsy
- Optimistic
- Balanced
- Passionate
- Authentic
- Responsible
- Caring
- Engaging
- Collaborative
5

Tone of Voice
General considerations for tone of voice

Our tone of voice is inspired by our values, personality and brand essence. We speak with one tone of voice, but may dial up and dial down certain attributes given the conversation and audience.
Tone of Voice

Corporate and Awareness

Consider the Protect and Connect brand story when writing content for this general category. Translate your values and personality into writing.

As you are speaking to the widest audience in this context your readers may not understand the extent of the regional parks system. Welcome them. Educate them. Make them feel a part of something big, and something that they can play a part in protecting.

Don’t give too much information up front, but lead people to further resources if they are interested.

Places to apply tone of voice...

- Facebook page provides an excellent example of tone of voice. It is friendly, shares knowledge, clearly loves nature, engages in conversation, uses great photos and gives credit to the photographers when appropriate.
- Media releases are a good example of precise, straightforward language, connecting actions to Metro Vancouver goals and adding some personality in language when possible.
- Reports obviously must retain formal language, but should be as concise and conversational as possible. You can be much more free with detailed information here.
- Speaking - you are all individuals, but a good brand repeats consistent talking points, definitions and reasons for existence that everyone can share in casual conversation or on a guided tour. Take the opportunity to educate people about the regional parks system whenever you can.
Tone of Voice

Events and Programs

Get excited! You’re inviting people to come take part in something. Give them exciting reasons to do so and communicate your own excitement.

Be conversational

Tell your reader what to expect so they can plan accordingly. It will help them to decide to join or not and will not lead to confusion or frustration later. “Remember to pack water and a snack! This walk usually takes 2.5 hours.”

Places to apply tone of voice...

- Check it Out! program guide
  It’s likely a challenge to fit all the information in here that you need to, but this is a great opportunity to explain the Metro Vancouver Regional Parks system and how people can engage.
  A new design system will make it easier to navigate.

- “Connect with Nature” field trips and tours bookmark
  A big bold call to action makes lots of sense here. Others to consider: “Learn Outdoors”, “Learn in Nature”
Tone of Voice

Guides and Rules

When someone reads something in this category they are looking for useful information, be it rules for the park, directions or the governance structure of Metro Vancouver Regional Parks. Be informative and approachable.

Explain the rules, don’t scold

Naturally, we need a lot of rules in place to protect the ecosystems within our parks. However, a lot of statements of what you can’t do can feel like scolding, and without explanation it can lead people to question their reason and importance.

With simple, understandable reasons for our rules, we can make their uptake a point of pride for people and give them a reason to educate others.

Places to apply tone of voice...

- Brochures should continue to remind people of the reasons for the rules in a friendly manner.
- Signage likely will not change soon, but a consistent description of regional parks and a map of their locations will let people figure out their scope and importance.
Photography

Corporate and Awareness

Each regional park features at least one signature moment; some have many. This is the place or time of day that is most recognized and usually most documented.

The corporate and awareness collection of photography should capture these moments at their best to create a family of images that are consistent in their impression: an inspiring and alluring visual introduction to our regional parks.

This collection of photos should be used in general communications such as awareness campaigns, website header images, social media header images and report covers.

• Focus on landscape, wider shots
• Aspirational, awe effect
• No people
Through events and programs, regional parks can be both fun and instructional and this is what our pictures should demonstrate. Parks are also suitable for all ages. Children, as much as seniors and adults, should be represented. This set of photos should always strive to reflect the ethnic diversity of regional parks’ visitors. This is an opportunity for regional parks to prove they’re open, welcoming and approachable.

The purpose of our events and programs is to connect people with nature. As a way of communicating the balance we’re trying to reach within our parks (protect and connect), we should balance our people-focused photography with wildlife photography to trigger curiosity and wonder.
Photography for guides and rules content should focus on the general landscape of the park, but show the environmental traits rather than its beauty. It should include a “subject” (person hiking, animal, object) within the landscape. These should be medium to wide shot compositions. We’re giving people clues of how to “use the park”.

Whenever possible photographs should be labelled with, at minimum, the location. There may be times when additional detail will provide important information and should be included.

For example:
- Belcarra Regional Park
- Camosun Bog, Pacific Spirit Regional Park

- Informative / descriptive
- Not as atmospheric or awe inspiring
On Brand and Off Brand

On Brand

- Dynamic lighting, strong contrast, curiosity
- Moments of colour
- Bold colour, textures, uniqueness

Off Brand

- Amateur photography
- Too trendy, out of place, off trail
- Posed
Pacific Parklands Foundation
Pacific Parklands Foundation is a registered charity dedicated to the conservation and enhancement of Metro Vancouver’s regional parks.

As the fundraising arm of Metro Vancouver Regional Parks, Pacific Parklands Foundation (PPF) provides the additional financial support needed to realize special projects and initiatives that fall outside of what government funding is able to provide.

Pacific Parklands Foundation has many programs including those to:

• protect our parks from invasive species;
• conserve and restore important wildlife habitats;
• educate and empower youth to become environmental leaders;
• ensure our parks are accessible to everyone;
• improve and grow park facilities and infrastructure;
• build a strong future for regional parks.
Using the Brand

In Metro Vancouver Regional Parks Communications

The overall approach is to profile PPF when it is possible to make their role clear either through supporting statements or because of their direct connection to a particular project or initiative. For example, park brochures and the Check it Out! program guide have room for an explanatory statement. When speaking about Pacific Parklands Foundation in Metro Vancouver Regional Parks’ communications, refer to the organization as an independent registered charity that supports Metro Vancouver Regional Parks.

Pacific Parklands Foundation’s brand should not appear in communications that cover more general regional parks topics as this may lead to confusion about their role.

Logo

Whenever using the Pacific Parklands Foundation logo on Metro Vancouver Regional Parks communications, always use the following logo lockup, which includes the phrase, With Support From. This logo lockup is provided in full colour, greyscale and knocked out.

Minimum Sizes

When the logo scales down to be smaller than 2.25 in, a version without the website should be used.
Example

- Examples showing proper use of the Pacific Parklands Foundation brand on Metro Vancouver Regional Parks communications.
Using the Brand

In Pacific Parklands Foundation Communications

In Pacific Parklands Foundation communications, the organization is talking about itself and how it supports Metro Vancouver Regional Parks.

In these communications, use the ‘tagline’ version of the logo, or use the regular version of the Pacific Parklands Foundation logo, but also include the text, Supporting Metro Vancouver Regional Parks.

Supporting Metro Vancouver Regional Parks
Example

- Examples showing proper use of the Pacific Parklands Foundation brand on its own communications.
6

Graphic Standards
This brand toolbox contains all the pieces you need to implement Metro Vancouver Regional Parks communications.

In order to preserve the brand’s spirit, it is important that Metro Vancouver Regional Parks’ visual identity is applied with consistency. Straying from the defined visual language of the brand can cause confusion, mis-recognition, and dilution of the brand.

Consistent and correct use of the brand elements help give the visual identity the opportunity to shine within the constraints in which they were developed. This allows longevity of the brand through consistency of use and application. In this guide, you will find information about proper logo usage as well as information about graphic elements, brand colours, typefaces and applications.

Note that these guidelines detail the specifics of the regional parks sub-brand. For information about applying the Metro Vancouver parent brand, please see the Metro Vancouver brand book.
Logo

Regional parks logo lockup in full colour, solid and reverse.

Clear Space

Always provide enough protection space to allow the logo to do its job effectively. Defined by the height of the ‘m’ in the Metro Vancouver Regional Parks logo, this minimum clear space area around the logo should be adhered to.
Logo Don’ts

Do not create new colour or gradient versions of the logo.

Do not rotate the logo in any way.

Do not distort logo proportions via stretching or condensing.

Do not apply effects such as drop shadows to the logo.

Do not alter the size or positioning of any logo elements.

Do not outline the individual logo forms.
Typography

Metro Vancouver uses Avenir as its brand typeface. Metro Vancouver Regional Parks should use the Metro Vancouver brand typeface in all communications for consistent visual messaging.

Avenir

Avenir is a versatile sans serif available in multiple weights. It is ideal for both headlines and body copy.

abcdefgijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

abcdefgijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

abcdefgijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

abcdefgijklmnopqrstuvwxyz
ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
Colour

Consistent use of brand colours is essential across all applications. See below the appropriate brand colours and specifications for print (PMS and CMYK) and web use (RGB and HEX). Colours may be used within the tint percentages indicated below.

Core Brand Colours

Metro Vancouver Regional Parks utilizes a proprietary green palette as the main colour across all communications. Below are the specifications for the ‘Regional Parks Green’ as well as the ‘Forest Dark Green’ accent colour.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Regional Parks Green</th>
<th>Forest Dark Green</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>PMS 361 C</td>
<td>PMS 7483 C</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>CMYK 75, 0, 100, 0</td>
<td>CMYK 83, 16, 83, 54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>RGB 52, 178, 51</td>
<td>RGB 39, 94, 55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HEX 34B233</td>
<td>HEX 275E37</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Additional Event Colours

In addition to the core colours above, additional colours may be used in event specific communications (see p.50 for event templates). These colours are less strictly defined, but should remain vibrant and match photography used.
Templates

General

There are a number of templates and basic rules to follow when creating documents and communications for Metro Vancouver Regional Parks. Each content typology will have a slightly different set of rules. However there are a few general rules to follow across all content typologies.

Regional Parks Logo
- The regional parks logo is always displayed within a container at the top-left of documents.

Metro Vancouver Brand Tag
- The Metro Vancouver icon is always displayed at the bottom left of documents with tagline if space allowing.

Template Variations
- There are variations of the regional parks template to allow for a dark background, as well as ‘no-bleed’ printing.
Templates

Corporate and Awareness

Lorem Ipsum Dolor Sit Amet

MARCH 2016
For the Greater Vancouver Regional District and Member Municipalities

Background
- Plain brand colour or image

Headlines
- Large headline with minimal to no body copy

Lorem Ipsum Dolor Sit Amet

MARCH 2016
For the Greater Vancouver Regional District and Member Municipalities
Examples

- Examples showing proper use of corporate templates.
Come dressed in costume and join the parade! Free face painting and fairy stories along the forest trail. Drop by the Nature House at 4519 Piper Avenue (off Winston St.) and look for the welcome tent.

FREE
Drop in anytime

To find out about other Metro Vancouver Regional Parks programs, visit the event calendar at www.metrovancouver.org

SAT, MAY 21, 11 AM – 3 PM
BURNABY LAKE REGIONAL PARK

What an adventure! Exploring a butterfly garden for flower fairies or searching a gnome depot for supplies to build a gnome hangout or fairy home as we discover the world of forest fairies, gnomes, and nature.
Examples

• Examples showing proper use of event / program templates.
Templates

Guides and Rules

Text Area

- Text is the primary content area on these documents
Dog Walking Guide

Why are dogs allowed only in certain areas?

Metro Vancouver implemented a dog management strategy within the LSCR in the 2003 management plan. This plan was developed through public consultation and resulted in the establishment of three zones within the landbase. As additional trails are established, opportunities for dog access will be evaluated.

Under Control / Leash Required

Dogs have been excluded from narrow winding trails, environmentally-protected areas, and on trails set aside for visitors who prefer not to encounter dogs.

Please refer to the map inside this brochure for information on the zoned trails. Visitor safety remains the highest priority in managing dogs.

Dog walking is one of the most popular activities within the LSCR and also one of the most challenging issues. Your cooperation in following these guidelines will help guarantee the LSCR remains a “dog-friendly” environment.

A network of wide trails south of Rice Lake Gate provide areas where dogs are permitted off-leash as long as they are “under control.”

Dogs have been excluded from narrow winding trails, environmentally-protected areas, and on trails set aside for visitors who prefer not to encounter dogs.

Please refer to the map inside this brochure for information on the zoned trails. Visitor safety remains the highest priority in managing dogs.

Dog walking etiquette

It is your responsibility to:

1. Carry a collar and leash for each dog at all times.
2. Immediately leash your dog upon approaching a horse.
3. Pick up and dispose of your dog’s droppings in the bins provided.
4. Keep your dog under control at all times.
5. Not be accompanied by more than three dogs at a time.
6. Keep your dog quiet in all areas.
7. Not let your dog chasing, barking, or jumping at other people or animals.
8. Not let your dog approach other people or animals.
9. Not let your dog bite or jump on people.

On Leash

Dogs are permitted off-leash and under control on all trails shown in green. Dogs must be on leash in the yellow shaded areas which include all parking areas and the main picnic area near Rice Lake.

What if…?

Your dog is under control when:

1. Your dog is within 10 metres of you at all times.
2. Your dog returns to you immediately when called.
3. Your dog is not annoying, harassing, chasing, or attacking any other person or animal.

As a dog owner, it is your responsibility to:

1. Carry a collar and leash for each dog at all times.
2. Immediately leash your dog upon approaching a horse.
3. Pick up and dispose of your dog’s droppings in the bins provided.
4. Keep your dog under control at all times.
5. Not be accompanied by more than three dogs at a time.
6. Keep your dog quiet in all areas.
7. Not let your dog chasing, barking, or jumping at other people or animals.
8. Not let your dog approach other people or animals.
9. Not let your dog bite or jump on people.

Please refer to the map inside this brochure for information on the zoned trails. Visitor safety remains the highest priority in managing dogs.

Examples

• Examples showing proper use of guides / rules templates.
8
Support
Should any part of the graphic standards be unclear, or there are questions about a particular brand application, please contact Metro Vancouver Multimedia Services Division for information and clarification.

metrovancouver

Metro Vancouver Multimedia Services
mv-design@metrovancouver.org