

BIO – Jason Emmert

Jason Emmert has more than 20 years of experience in environmental, community and regional planning. His career journey has taken him from environmental policy and projects in Kazakhstan to fisheries management in Brazil to smart growth planning in British Columbia. He is currently a Senior Planner in the Air Quality and Climate Change Division at Metro Vancouver. His portfolio includes leading the development of Climate 2050, Metro Vancouver’s 30-year regional climate action strategy and the implementation of regional climate change policies and programs.