

PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD

Coquitlam Water Main Project – Robson to Guildford Section

Thank you for participating!

Metro Vancouver is constructing a new water main in the City of Coquitlam to meet the growing demand for drinking water in the region. As part of our engagement activities, we conducted a public comment period during the months of October and November, and received concerns and requests from the local community on aspects that matter the most to them in this project, including how to minimize construction impacts.

Your input is important to us. There will be a number of opportunities for public input throughout the project. Local residents and businesses will:

Have ongoing support from our community liaison to answer questions or address concerns related to the project

Receive project updates through mail, email, website and on-site signage

Be invited to public meetings

Feedback Highlights

Thank you to everyone who participated in our public comment period, from October 25 to November 12, 2021. The purpose of this engagement was to receive feedback on the Coquitlam Water Main Project – Robson to Guildford Section, that will start in Fall 2022.

Below is a high-level summary of what we heard from you:

Request to minimize traffic delays, particularly in the residential areas

Concern about air quality due to truck idling

Concern about pedestrian and cyclists safety around the construction site

Concern about driveway access and temporary loss of street parking along Pipeline Road

Request to minimize construction noise, vibration and dust

Interest in learning about construction methodology, tree replacement and utility placement

We will report back on how we have incorporated your feedback as this project progresses. Stay tuned for more opportunities to get involved!

If you have any questions or comments about this project, please contact our community liaison.
